

Clean Cities Quarterly Update

Spring 2010 Edition

Greater Houston Clean Cities Passes on the Torch!

There's a new coordinator in town! Her name is Kelli Angelone. She has been with H-GAC's Clean Vehicles program for 2 years and now hopes to help Clean Cities reach more citizens in the Houston area.

And don't worry, we didn't get rid of Christine Smith, she actually got promoted and will still be involved with Clean Cities!

Hello! Nice to meet you!

From Kelli Angelone
Greater Houston Clean Cities Coordinator

Advancing the Choice 2010

July 13th at Pasadena Convention Center

This year, Advancing the Choice (ATC) conference explores the Off-Road sector and infrastructure in addition to our usual fare of local government and private industry alternative fuel vehicles.

Also, we are still welcoming fleet managers who'd like to tell us all about their experience with an alternative fuel or technology at ATC. If you are a fleet manager with alt-fuels or advanced technologies in your fleet, please call or email us!

Program Features & Funding

You Seem...Different.

H-GAC's alternative fuels and vehicles programs have undergone some changes. We've won funding for new and different projects, and we've revamped some of the older programs to make them even better.

Our New Drayage Loan Program

I'm sure you've heard about the Drayage Loan Program, a program for truckers that work with ports in the Houston region. The program offers low-interest loans to help port truckers replace, repower, and retrofit their older vehicles.

Did You Cut Your Hair?

Changes for Clean Vehicles & Clean School Bus

Clean Vehicles and Clean School Bus are getting a makeover! If you'd like to comment on the new look, we have draft guidelines posted.

Major changes will include increased flexibility in funding options and standardized forms across programs. Also in the future, we hope to address new pollutant reduction goals, like greenhouse gases or particulate matter, which we currently do not consider when evaluating projects.

New Features on the Website

How much funding can I get? New resources are now available on the Clean Vehicles website, answering that oft-repeated question. Please note the disclaimer.
